Friends in Christ,
Mother Nature was cold and uncooperative last Sunday and we were unable to meet for worship. Fortunately, some of you were able to join us for pancakes on Tuesday and many were able to gather with us for worship on Ash Wednesday. It was a full and fulfilling week!

This Sunday is the first Sunday in Lent. It is also Seminarian Sunday and we once again welcome our student intern, Barb Hesse to the pulpit. Barb has already proven to be a talented and engaging preacher; what a blessing it is to hear from her again! We can all be proud of FCCV's long history as a teaching parish and all the ways our congregation supports and encourages our seminarians.

Since we were not able to meet last week we will celebrate Black History Month this Sunday with music by African-American composers and spirituals.

In the event that weather conditions force the cancellation of any church service or event, a notice will be posted on WFSB TV 3 and WFSB.com

Grace and peace be with you as we enter this holy season together.

With you on the journey,
Meg
