Friends in Christ,

The baptism of Taylor Cariboni last week was such a blessing! She was the image of bright-eyed innocence and just as sweet as she could be. I thank God for the children of this church.

Likewise, I am grateful for all who stayed for our congregational meeting. I celebrate with you the call of the Reverend Joanne Myer to serve as our Interim Associate Pastor, and look forward with great excitement to the outcome of the search for our new settled Associate Pastor.

This week the celebration of God's good gifts continues as we welcome new members into our church. Dean and I will take our membership vows alongside Dan and Karen Bradford, Deb Hampton, Gary Hart, and Adam and Jennifer Jensen. Scripture tells us that by joining in covenant with other believers we become more than we could ever be alone - we become the body of Christ in the world. It is a great honor to worship and serve as part of this body of believers. I look forward to seeing how God will magnify and multiply the many gifts of our newest members in the days and years to come!

With you on the journey,
 Meg
