Friends in Christ,

I recently purchased a new iron. I didn't go all out or anything; I don't really like to iron. I just needed something to knock down the wrinkles when I don't get to the dryer in time. So selected a basic model and took it to the register where they offered to sell me an extended warranty. Do I really need an extended warranty on a $20 iron? Won't it last a long time if I only use it on Sunday?

I fondly remember the old days when my father would purchase Craftsman Tools, because Craftsman offered a lifetime guarantee. They replaced any worn or damaged tool with a brand new one, no questions asked. They don't do that anymore. Remember Tupperware? Lifetime guarantee! Return the worn or damaged bowl and get a new one, free!

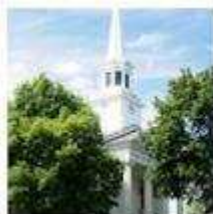

When the Bible speaks of redemption, this is the image I have - returning the old, worn, damaged pieces of ourselves to God, who then gives us back to the world all shiny and new. That is the subject of our scripture this week. So, come back to the Source of life and love and joy this Sunday and get a free refill - get a whole new YOU!

With you on the journey,
Meg
